VOCABULARY FROM LATIN AND GREEK ROOTS

AER, AIR

Latin AER, AERIS, "air

Mil On

the flavoring. Making homemade ice cream is easier if you first aerate the cream before adding AERATE (âr'āt) v. To fill with air; to expose to air pilot the plane with great skill. Michelle performed a few aerial stunts during the show that proved she could AERIAL (âr'ēəl) adj. Done from or in the air

AIRY (at' e) adj. Light; not heavy or serious

The pancakes were so airy and fluffy that they seemed to melt in Lisa's mouth

Latin FLARE, FLATUM, "to blow" er jail because he illegali.

■ To inflate means "to fil with air," but also "to

To make the hot-air balloon fly lower to the ground, Debbie deflated it by releas DEFLATE (di flāt') ν. Το make smaller, make less ing some of its air.

Ley, lever-light; to lift up Brut = heavy Press = Press Tend, tent = to stretch Grave heav Also study a tire or a beach ball; it air out of," as you would it can mean "take the can have two meanings down, make less." If you will probably be very getting a pony, the child deflate a child's hopes of ■ Deflate, like inflate, not worth very much.

each dollar actually is be a lot of money, but of inflation, for economy is in a period value." When the increasing its size or > syn: pump up of his company's stock.

Mr. Marbury was sentenced to a year in jail because he illegally inflated the pric

INFLATE (in flat') v. To make bigger instance, there seems to

Dens-thick Nac, Neag-thin Brev = bref

108

10 BL word Flashcards (Thisweek+17) 15 Root Flasheards 3

SEZT

Latin VENTILARE, VENTILATUM, "to fan, to blow"

The FBI had to ventilate the room over and over to remove the poison safely VENTILATE (ven' ti lāt) v. To push air through

HYPERVENTILATE (hi' per ven ti lät) v. To breathe too fast Sally was so afraid of flying that she had to take medicine or she would hyperventilate throughout the whole flight.

Latin SPIRARE, SPIRATUM, "to breathe"

ASPIRE (a spir') v. To aim; to have as a goal L. ad, "towards," + spirare = to breathe towards syn: strive finally did. All his life, Arnold aspired to earn a million dollars, but he was unhappy when he

SPIRITED (spir' o iod) adj. Having much energy; lively Bev was a spirited young child, and she grew into a lively and friendly adult. L. ex, "out," + spirare = to breathe out EXPIRE (ek spīr') ν. Το come to an end

II To expire literally or "to breathe one's last." Expire is now means "to breathe out," may expire. a person who is very ill milk may expire, just as coupon or a carton of that comes to an end. A thing, not just a life, used to describe any-

SL Practices #18- Monday 3/21

PV Sentences #18- Monday 3/21 Dest-Thesday 3/22 Jashcards-Tues into 109